ANNEX 1. Specific regulations for ITN fellowships

“This project has received funding from the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme under the Marie Skłodowska-Curie grant agreement No 955951”.

IRB Barcelona is offering 2 fellowships funded by the ITN-Marie Skłodowska-Curie Actions call of the European Commission (Horizon 2020 Research and Innovation Programme, grant agreement No. 955951).

The positions available are part of the Evomet network, an international consortium that comprises some of the best academic, clinical and industrial organisations in cancer and metastasis research in Europe.

Evomet fellows will benefit from:

- Outstanding training aimed at fostering scientific, technical and transferable skills.
- Secondments designed to exploit the complementarities between projects, sectors and expertise.
- Scientific advice from internationally recognised experts
- A solid mentoring strategy and follow-up through a personalised career development plan.

Eligibility criteria

To be eligible for an Evomet fellowship, applicants must:

- Comply with the mobility rule, meaning that they must not have resided or carried out their main activity (work, studies, etc.) in the country of the recruiting beneficiary for more than 12 months in the 3 years immediately before the recruitment date.
- Fulfil the requirements to be able to enrol in a doctoral programme at the hosting institution/country.

- Be in the first four years of their research careers and have not been awarded a doctoral degree.

Start date of fellowships: August 2021.

Benefits

The ITN Marie Skłodowska-Curie Programme offers highly competitive and attractive salary and working conditions. Each fellowship includes the following:

- Monthly living allowance: 3,270 euro/month (€39,240/year); this amount is then adjusted through the application of a country correction coefficient to the living allowance of the country in which the researcher is recruited. The country correction coefficients are indicated in Table 2 of the MSCA Work Programme.
- Monthly mobility allowance: 600 euro/month
- Monthly family allowance, if applicable and depending on the family situation: 500 euro/month.

Researchers will be recruited under an employment contract that includes social security coverage.

The living allowance is a gross EU contribution to the salary costs of the researcher. Consequently, the net salary results from deducting all compulsory (employer/employee) social security contributions as well as direct taxes (e.g. income tax) from the gross amounts. The rate indicated here is for researchers devoting themselves to their project on a full-time basis. The mobility and family allowances are fixed amounts, regardless of the country of recruitment, and may be taxable depending on the country in which the researcher is recruited.

For more details please see the Horizon 2020 Work Programme 2018-2020 Marie Skłodowska-Curie Actions.

All network institutions are equal opportunity employers and seek a workforce diverse in age, culture, nationality and gender. No restrictions on gender, age, ethnic groups, national or social origin, religion or belief, sexual orientation, language, disability, political opinion, and social or economic conditions will apply to the network positions.

Evomet is fully committed to equal opportunities and proactive measures have been implemented. To this end, during the application procedure, candidates will be asked to include information on any career breaks, and these will not be penalized during the selection procedure. In particular, when checking compliance with the mobility rule, the refugee procedure will not be taken into account as a period of residence in the country where the candidate is applying. When all scores and evaluation criteria are equal, preference will be given to candidates from under-represented groups, for example women, and candidates with disabilities or those from refugee backgrounds.
